THE RABBI SPEAKS

RABBI BARRY BLOCK

Dear Friends:

Rabbinical school did not prepare me to confront antisemitism. I do not say that to criticize Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion. In the late 1980s and early 1990s—and even before that, ever since my birth in 1963—antisemitism in America seemed like a thing of the past.

Don't get me wrong: We studied Jewish history, replete with antisemitism, often violent and even genocidal in the living memory of some of my professors. My peers and I did experience what we did not know to call "microaggressions" as we grew up: unwelcome proselytizing, communal prayers that did not include us, insufficient accommodation of our Holy Day absence, and phrases that alluded to Jews' alleged wealth and tendencies to be miserly. These stereotypes are grounded in antisemitism, to be sure, but most people who uttered them didn't know that. Jewish Americans in the latter part of the twentieth century rarely experienced credible threats or violence as a result of being Jewish. Like Christian churches, synagogues might have police officers for traffic control, at least on the High Holy Days, but not every time we opened our doors.

Progress felt inevitable to most Americans in those days, and certainly did to American Jews. Now, by contrast, our society now seems to be moving in reverse, with contracting rights, increasing white supremacy, and threats to democracy. In 2022, we take for granted that we must have security at our doors whenever we are open for worship or learning. We are not surprised that we must make physical alterations to our building to enhance security or that we must host active shooter training. Earlier this summer, the "Mapping Project" provided the address of every Jewish institution in Massachusetts, making all of them vulnerable to violence, on the flimsy excuse, parlayed by extreme leftist anti-Zionists, that synagogues and day schools, for example, are supportive of Israel. Meanwhile on the extreme right, from chants of “Jews will not replace us” in Charlottesville to abundant Nazi symbolism at the attack on the U.S. Capitol on January 6, 2021, and above all the Tree of Life Massacre in Pittsburgh, antisemitism has reasserted itself with deadly force.

In response, our Union for Reform Judaism has established a partnership with ADL, complete with a way for individuals and communities to report incidents of antisemitism, which may be found here: Responding to Antisemitic Incidents: A New Resource for URJ Communities | ADL.

On an individual level, each of us must identify, call out, and report incidents of antisemitism, including microaggressions. Sometimes, that means calling the police or telling a school official or workplace manager. More often, it means a frank conversation with an acquaintance or coworker who may even not realize that their words are antisemitic.

I still believe in America. I note that the words of America the Beautiful include the phrase, “God mend thine every flaw.” May God be our Partner and the Partner of all who would join with us in healing all that afflicts our nation. That effort, of necessity, includes combating antisemitism, whatever its source.

Faithfully,

Rabbi Barry H. Block

FROM THE PRESIDENT, ANNABELLE IMBER TUCK

How Good It is To Be Together!

Greetings from your new President! For the past 2 + years, we have all struggled with a new way of living with the COVID virus. Variants come and go. [As my grandfather used to say when I would come to him with a problem – “This too shall pass.”]

After weathering social isolation, masking, vaccinations, and social distancing, we find ourselves once again facing another surge of a new COVID variant.

With the good counsel of our COVID Task Force co-chaired by Bruce Greenberg and Elizabeth Cohen, our congregation has transitioned through many phases: from a period of no in-person events at Temple and only online services and Torah study and online Religious School (including the High Holy Days in 2020) to simultaneous in-person and online streaming services and Torah Study and online Religious School (including the High Holy Days in 2021). Throughout the course of these transitions, masking and vaccinations (or negative PCR tests) were required to attend in-person events.

Eventually, along with the joy of being together in person, our favorite pastime—sharing food together—resumed with the Passover Seder, B’nei Mitzvah, and noshing during each Friday evening’s Oneg Shabbat. Finally, when the rate of COVID infections went down, masking became optional.

Now, we are seeing another spike in COVID infection rates in Pulaski County, which means another adjustment—masking will once again be required inside the Temple.

In contemplating this recent surge, I believe it is important for Temple to continue to offer our members the opportunity to come together safely for services, Torah study, Religious School, Adult education programs, and the High Holy Days. My hope is that the joy we as a congregation experience from coming together will far outweigh the small personal discomfort that goes along with wearing a mask.

Instead of retreating when we are faced with obstacles, the Torah encourages us to actively engage in the Journey of Life. Despite having to make some adjustments for the safety of our congregants, the time is now to rebuild our sense of community by being there for each other, as we study Torah, attend services, celebrate holidays, simchas, and joyous occasions, visit the sick, and comfort the bereaved.

This month, I am reviewing the Gift of the Hand forms on which many members have indicated how they want to actively participate as a volunteer at Temple. If you do not recall filling out that form, please feel free to contact me by phone at 501-831-6098 or by email at annabelletuck@ymail.com. My desire is to expand our circle of active volunteers at Temple by matching your talents and interests with specific volunteer opportunities. This effort is an integral part of our Temple community coming together for each other.

POLITICAL IS PERSONAL

An initiative of in-depth interviews with Israeli Jewish and Palestinian women who share how their lives have been affected by the conflict and political situation with Sarah Arnd Linder.

Sunday, August 14, 10:30am—ZOOM LINK

Sarah Arnd Linder, the daughter of an Israeli father and a Danish mother, has lived in Israel for sixteen years, earning her B.A. in Conflict Resolution and International Affairs at the Interdisciplinary Center Herzliya and a Master’s degree in History of the Middle East at Tel Aviv University. In 2015, with a passion for elevating the voices of women in the region, she began to interview Jewish and Palestinian women about how the conflict has affected their lives. With approximately one hundred women interviewed to date, Political is Personal has been exhibited at the European Parliament in Brussels, Belgium.

JUDAISM 101 BEGINS ON AUGUST 25

Judaism 101 is our congregation's course for those seeking comprehensive introductory learning about Judaism. Rabbi Block is the primary teacher for this program, which meets on Thursday evenings, 7-8:30pm. Special sessions are scheduled to be taught by Eileen Hamilton, Ellyn Polsky, and Dorian Stuber. All are welcome to this program, conducted with the rigor of an undergraduate college course, but requiring no prior knowledge.

The course will be taught at the scheduled time, often via Zoom, with some sessions designated as required in-person sessions for those who live in Central Arkansas and are able to attend in person (and provided that Covid conditions make in-person attendance possible). Even when held in person, attendance via Zoom will be available, particularly for those attending from great distance. The first session on August 25 is intended as an in-person session.

Judaism 101 students range from congregants who have been Jewish all their lives to non-Jews in relationships with Jews, from those converting to Judaism to those eager to be well prepared to raise Jewish children.

The course is free for Temple members, with a cost of $100 for all others. The book for the course, Honoring Tradition, Embracing Modernity: A Reader for the Union for Reform Judaism's Introduction to Judaism Course, may be obtained and purchased from the Temple office at the cost of $40.00. (Couples taking the course together pay only one tuition fee and are welcome to share a set of books.)

For more information, please contact Rabbi Block, bblock@bnai-israel.us. For registration and book purchase, please contact the Temple office, 501-225-9700 or TempleSecretary@bnai-israel.us.

Registrants will receive a full course syllabus, designating topics to be covered at each class, readings for each session, and which sessions are scheduled to be held in person. Candidates for conversion to Judaism will receive information about conversion requirements.

Michael is a travel writer for The New York Times, is travelling to Tel Aviv for work. He is a former best-selling author, having written a book about New York City during the peak of the AIDS crisis, in which he lost a good friend to the disease. Instead of staying at a hotel, Michael meets Tomer, a younger film student in need of extra money, and sublets his apartment in a popular neighborhood. The two gay men face a generational gap that puts their personal and clashing life philosophies into perspective.

Ottenheimer Brothers Foundation Provides Grant for Security Enhancement

Congregation B'nai Israel is most grateful to the Ottenheimer Brothers Foundation, which fully funded a grant request submitted by our President, Annabelle Imber Tuck, for security enhancements to our Temple facility. The proposal was compiled by our Security Committee, chaired by past president Carol Pfeifer Parham, in a project spearheaded by Security Committee and Board member Brian Rosenthal.

Some of the modifications to our building, such as new doors and additional emergency exits, will be noticeable. Others will be more opaque but no less central to the security of congregants and guests whenever we gather at Temple.

The Ottenheimer Brothers Foundation has been most generous to Congregation B'nai Israel across many decades. Our congregation is thankful for the charitable intent of the Ottenheimer brothers, of blessed memory, and for the commitment of the Foundation's trustees.

SOCIAL OUTREACH—SCHOOL BACKPACKS

The Social Action committee is preparing backpacks filled with school supplies for underserved children in the Little Rock School District. The cost is $36 per backpack, and you may sponsor as many as you wish!

We will be assembling the backpacks at Temple in August. Join us for the fun! Send a check to Temple and write "backpacks" in the memo line, or call the office at 225-9700 and charge the amount to your account.

FROM EILEEN HAMILTON, DIRECTOR, ADMINISTRATION, EDUCATION & YOUTH ENGAGEMENT

Blessed are You, Adonai our God, Ruler of the universe, who has kept us alive, sustained us, and enabled us to reach this moment.

The Shehechyanu is a blessing that reminds us that we have reached a new time and experience. The first time in any year to taste new fruits or wear new clothes. The first time to light the Hanukkah candles once again, and a time to become a B Mitzvah. A Shehechyanu moment is marked by time—the first time in any year, the first time in a new year, the first time ever. We mark these events with a photo, a post, a comment, or even a like. But we often do not stop and mark the time with a blessing. Soon all will purchase new school supplies and new clothes and shoes for returning to school. Yes, we have walked into a school before, but only for the first time this school year beginning in August. And our pencils will be unsharpened and our notebooks pristine.

The saying ‘stop and take the time to smell the roses’ reminds us to slow down and cherish the moments, take a big breath, and recognize the many blessings all around us each day. Whether embarking on something new or not, take the time to recognize that each experience is fresh and unique and is marked by time and opportunity.

This year at Religious School, we will focus on the famous Kohelet/Ecclesiastes poem about the seasons and a time for everything under the sun. Good things and bad; happiness and sadness; challenging times and easy successes, the whole gamut. And each moment should be noticed as we learn lessons and smile endlessly. Continue to mark these special Shehechyanu times with a FB post, Insta, Tweet, and photos too—and words to God, of blessing and gratitude.

Pre-Confirmation and Confirmation class begins on Wednesday, August 24 at Our House at 4:30 pm. Students will prepare and serve dinner to Our House residents. Class continues at Fantastic China Restaurant with dinner.
