FEBRUARY 2025 VOLUME 25 - ISSUE 2

THE RABBI SPEAKS

RABBI BARRY BLOCK

Dear Friends,

Sometimes, people tell me that they prefer a “celebration of life” over a funeral.

Judaism doesn't recognize the difference. In our tradition, the purpose of a funeral is כבוד המת (k'vod ha-met), literally, “honoring the one who has died,” or, as we would say in English, “a celebration of life.”

I know what people mean, though. They want the gathering to be joyous, not mournful. Not everyone wants that, of course. Some are striving in vain to avoid feelings of sadness that naturally accompany a loved one's death. Others are eager to spare their family grief at the time of their own passing. They are not likely to succeed, no matter how the service is conducted, as sorrow is unavoidable when a beloved family member or dear friend dies.

Sometimes, though, after engaging the hard work of mourning, we may later find fun and meaningful ways to celebrate the life of a person who has died. We may retell their humorous stories or jokes. We may cook their favorite dinner or bake their preferred cake for their birthday. We may give צדקה (tz'dakah) that continues their good work.

On December 31, 2023, our congregation joined the family of David Bauman, זצ"ל, to grieve his untimely and unexpected death. David's family was plunged into mourning, and our congregation was bereft alongside them.

Here, it behooves me to say a word about who David was, since we always have new members, including many who joined in 2024. David was unmatched in serving two full terms as President of our congregation and was the first among near equals, a group of Temple musicians who revolutionized worship music at Congregation B'nai Israel. Beginning with the Bat Mitzvah of his elder daughter, now-Rabbi Katie Bauman, David joined his brother Steve to lead music for services. David and Steve had grown up in SoFTY, now NFTY-Southern, our regional Reform youth movement. Above all, they had been inspired by what was then a new style of Jewish liturgical music, drawing on folk music and even rock-and-roll.

David would go on to lead our Temple musicians, prominently including Jana Cohen and many others. He frequently traveled to Reform Movement gatherings, where he and his bass guitar would accompany some of the best-known creators of contemporary Jewish music, learning new melodies and bringing them home to Congregation B'nai Israel. Under David's leadership, our worship music was carefully curated and beautifully led.

Every Shabbat service at our Temple is a celebration of David's life. Those who played and sang with David and growing numbers of new voices continue to inspire us with worshipful song.

On February 7, we shall honor David's extraordinary legacy at Congregation B'nai Israel and throughout and beyond Central Arkansas. Rick Recht, an internationally recognized songwriter and worship leader, who often collaborated with David here in Little Rock and at Reform Movement gatherings, will be with us to celebrate, as will members of David's family. David's friend and fellow past president, Rita Fagan, has taken charge of preparing a festive Shabbat dinner, including David's favorite meatballs. The festivities will continue on Saturday night with Havdalah and singalong at the home of Jill and Steve Bauman.

Ecclesiastes famously wrote, "To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under heaven." Having taken the time to grieve David's death, the time has come to celebrate David's extraordinary lifetime of gifts to Congregation B'nai Israel, a living legacy.

Faithfully,

David Bauman, of blessed memory, followed his brother Steve into leading Temple worship music with guitar from time to time, then quickly grew that into weekly musical leadership by Temple volunteers on Friday nights as well as ever-growing involvement of volunteers on the High Holy Days and on other special occasions.

Rick Recht is one of the most influential and celebrated Jewish artists and leaders of our time. His innovations in Jewish music, media, and leadership training have had a profound impact on the fabric of Jewish life. He frequently collaborated with David as a guest of our congregation and at international gatherings of our Reform Movement, where David regularly accompanied Rick and others on bass.

Rick Recht's visit is made possible by a generous grant from the Bauman Family Music Fund.

From Lewis Krain, President

I did not know David Bauman as well as I would have liked. He was a larger than life figure to me. Physician, Musician, President of the Congregation (twice!). He was always friendly towards me, though in my own insecurity I found him intimidating and I was always shy to approach him. I'm sure he would have found that ridiculous if he knew.

Despite this distance, he was a role model for me in more ways than one. As a practicing physician, he did not let his busy clinical duties stop him from taking a central role in the Jewish community and the CBI congregation. I have no idea how he juggled his role as a cardiologist with the responsibilities of the Presidency of the Temple, or with the time he took to rehearse and perform for the Temple. I would love to ask him now; it's a lesson I have been thinking about increasingly in the past few weeks since I've become President myself.

David's musical contribution cannot be overstated. All-Music Shabbat was one of the strongest calls to worship in those days for my growing family. Many remember my daughter as a toddler dancing in the aisles to the music of David, Jana Cohen, Russ Parish and others, and she has told me this is one of her first memories of childhood. Under David's leadership, the music of that time transformed my understanding of what a Jewish service could be, and went a huge way towards making Temple B'nai Israel my Jewish home when I returned to Little Rock from Michigan.

I'm disappointed that I never took the chance to tell David how much admiration I had for him. It's a lesson I've learned (and keep learning) about the importance of taking advantage of time with people while we have it, and not letting my own insecurities be a barrier to connecting with them. On that note (pun intended!) I encourage you to take the opportunity to join the congregation as we celebrate David Bauman and his musical legacy on the weekend of February 7-8. Rick Recht will be coming into town to be part of Friday Evening Services and a Havdalah on Saturday. Please come add your voice to the celebration of a life of joy, music, and service, and while you're there take the moment to tell an unsuspecting person how much they mean to you.

BE A TEMPLE DOCENT

And Learn More about the Temple Yourself in Training!

To let us know you are interested, please contact Lane, 501-225-9700 or LBoyd@bnai-israel.us. Training with Ron Lanoue will be scheduled at your convenience.

Our Congregation has played an important and often leadership role in the advancement of social justice issues in Arkansas beginning even before Rabbi Sanders' transformative tenure, 1926-1963.

So many people come through our doors looking to learn about the congregation and about Judaism.

This interest in the Jewish People continues to this day. Dale Ronnel, Trudy Jacobson, Emily Lewis, and Ron Lanoue have offered countless tours over the course of many years. Now is the time to expand our cadre of docents who can guide our visitors on their visits to Temple.

Requests for tours most often fall on Fridays in advance of services.
